A Review of TV Sitcom

'Friends' is one of the most popular TV sitcoms of all times. It shows six young people struggling to survive their every day lives, find love, comfort and support each other through various moments of life, while throwing in humor to keep the viewers interested at all times.

The on/off relationship between nerdy Ross and beautiful waitress Rachel and an unexpected romance of wise Chandler and obsessive-compulsive Monica made me stay tuned for more. Of course, both the hilarious Joey, an actor and womanizer, and Phoebe, an airhead, did a wonderful job of keeping the show incredibly amusing for me.

Everyone can relate to at least one character of the sitcom even more because writers combined an ordinary friendship with family relation between Ross and Monica. I recommend it to anyone who needs entertainment or, well, to anyone at all. So, what are you waiting for? Go and watch it!
