MY FAVOURITE SITCOM

Some people like sitcom, while others don't. I actually love them. My favourite is "Hope and Faith". It's about two sisters who are completely different.. Faith is a successful actress and Hope is a housewife, married to Charlie and they have three kids. After Faith's character unexpectedly dies in one episode, for Faith surrounded by paparazi, the only place where she is safe is her sister's home. Charlie can't stand Faith while Sydney, the oldest daughter, sees Faith as her idol. Hope's perfectly planned life is now disturbed by Faith. Haylie, the younger daughter, is much more intelligent than the children of her generation, and Hope's son is just six years old. Faith's glamour, Sydney's obsession to be just like her aunt, Hylie's intelligence and Charlie's behaviour when Faith does something wrong, make this sitcom the best and the most enjoyable.

I can't find negative things about it, probably because I love it. But maybe the only bad point is that Faith's character is too dumb. But on the other hand maybe that makes it hilarious.

I believe that some people don't like this kind of humour but if they watched just one episode I guarantee that they would love it.
