Facebook - sign up or not

What is Facebook? Someone says the greatest thing ever found, but also there are others who claim that Facebook is the greatest "evil" man could ever create. Therefore, it is up to us to decide whether or not to create our profile on Facebook. If we want to do it the right way, we should reconsider both positive and negative sides of Facebook.

Facebook is the place where people get together for chatting. For example, if you have a friend who lives in another city, Facebook is a good way of staying in touch with him. It is also a great way for making new friendships or maybe to find a soulmate.

However, every medallion has two sides, so there is the other side of Facebook. Many members open their profiles just for fun and spend their time in vain. That could be harmful because children lose their interest for everything else. They neglect school and people around them, as if there is only Facebook on this world. Facebook is like a drug to them. It is addictive.

To cut a long story short, everything and everyone has its good and bad side and it is up to us to discover them. The bottom line is that we should not do something because everyone is doing it. We should do it because we want or have a true need for it.
