Some people say that we should not eat meat, do you agree?

Ever since I can remember vegetarians have existed and ever since I can remember I have strongly disagreed with them.

First of all, some people are vegetarians simply because they dislike the taste of meat and these people have a good reason for doing so. Apart from them, everyone else is either too sad for the animals or, worse yet, they claim that eating meat is bringing us closer to cannibalism.

As far as the second argument goes, it is not really an argument at all. As clearly indicated by our canine teeth we are fit to eat meat. This is further proven by the fact that we can digest it. As for the original argument there is a neat example to defend my position. Lions in Africa are slowly becoming endangered and we rarely see lion meat on our menus. On the other hand, chickens outnumber us. If you think eating them is cruel, try driving them to extinction.

To sum up, the only valid reason for being a vegetarian is a simple dislike for the taste or texture of meat.
