In Serbia lots of people eat fast food and they don't really care about their health. Healthy food is slowly disappearing in new generations.

In my school a lot of kids eat fast food like pizzas, sandwiches and hamburgers, but we have some healthy, traditional meals. Usually, fruits, vegetables and fish are healthy and they tasty. Many people in Serbia are vegetarians and they don't want to eat meat, they just eat vegetables and fruits. I love to eat healthy food but I like meat, too. Candies are also popular, I really love them.

I hope that more people will eat healthy food in the future.
