

B2

It was only a small mistake but it changed my life.

One day, my friend and I decided to go hiking. As soon as we packed our backpacks we left the house. In the beginning it was very easy but as we went further, the mountain became steeper and harder to climb. We decided to take a short break. We sat between two huge trees which were near the edge so we had a beautiful view, we were stunned. We became hungry so I decided to go on and get food from our backpacks which were hanging above us. As I was getting up, I slipped and started sliding down the edge but I quickly grabbed the root that was above the ground. I started shouting for help. My friend immediately got up, grabbed my hand and started pulling me away from the edge. The next thing I remember was that we were both laying on the ground in dead silence. We couldn't believe what happened.

That was the first and the last time we went hiking all by ourselves.
