My big adventure

Today is 29th March. I'm in my granddad's house in the basement. I found a machine and I don't know how it works. It's a lot bigger than me so I can get into it. There I saw a red button and I pressed it. A yellow light appeared in the moment and then everything went black again. I opened the door of the machine and I was in a desert. Next to me there was a tent. I saw a woman who was passing next to me. I stopped her and asked where I was and which year it was. She explained that I was in Sahara and that it was year 1012. I was so scared. In that moment the tent, which was by me, disappeared. I looked around and saw it on the hill. I ran to it screaming Help! Help! While I was running to the tent someone called my name. That was my granddad. He looked much younger. I was so confused and he said "I can explain everything."
