Story

The fortune-teller looked at the crystal ball and said: “Well, well...what an interesting future you have here.” She probably says that to everyone, but I chose to believe her.

“Soon you’ll meet someone very beneficial to your income”, she said. I was hoping it’s my new employer, since I am currently looking for a job. “At the beginning, you will think that that person is quite terrible”, she said chuckling, “just like any other boss. Eventually you will grow a fondness towards him.” I hoped she was right. She sighed.

”What else do you want to know?”, the fortune-teller said, looking at me with a tired expression. “...My love life?”, I asked. “That will be 30 dollars extra.”
