The Fortune teller... looked at the crystal ball and said: 'Young man, the hard times are coming. There will be too many floods. The pollution will be too high. Everything will be in chaos'.

One man said: 'When all trees are cut, when all rivers are dirty, then will the humans understand that money can't be eaten!' 'You, only you can stop this chaos'. 'The man said: 'How? I'm just a normal man. I'm not special.'

Fortune-teller said: 'That is what you think. But, you will understand later'. The man has thought about what she said for years. Then he said: 'For the future!', and started to make a team which will stop the chaos.
