The fortune-teller looked at the crystal ball and said: "Come closer, give me your hands". So I did. It was a bit scary, but I knew all fortune tellers were weird. She called herself Great Hudina, I supposed because of that great magician. Then she started making unarticulated sounds. My friend Mia, who made me do that, went out to get water. The second Mia left the tent, the fortune teller started screaming and talking in Arabic... Then her eyes turned red, she looked like a devil. I started panicking. She said: "I'm a spirit who possessed this woman and I have to take you, Elena, your time is over!" I started crying and tried to get out of the tent, but I couldn't. I closed my eyes and prayed. I noticed nothing happened. I opened my eyes and saw my friends. It was a prank. First I was mad, but I forgave them.
