Essay

This world is full of new technology, new toys and it's hard to find a true friend. But there are some animals that will always be there for you, and I'm talking about dogs. Dogs are man's best friends, and that is true. But we are all aware of the problem with stray dogs. There are some methods that governments can do to alleviate this problem.

One of the methods is neutering. Although, I don't really support this method it's less extreme than killing. It's a good way to reduce the number of stray dogs. And it also can help dogs in many ways. They will be less aggressive and also there will be no possibility for them to have cancer on that part of the body.

Another method is promoting special dog adoption schemes. This is also good for stray dogs. They can get a new family, who will love them and play with them. These adoptions can give that dogs new life and new chance to be happy.

In my view, the method of adopting is more important. Because dogs don't lose a part of the body, instead they get a new family, and as I said new life. Also I think that the stray dogs who first came to the shelters should be first adopted, so that they don't have to wait too long to get a new family.
