

One thing I cannot live without

I live with many things that make my life easier and happier. These things are the most important ones to me. But the main thing, the thing I cannot live without is reading.

I began reading at the age of four. I've been collecting and connecting with each book I read. They lead me to places and people that inspire my life and my choices. While reading I was in Paris, Rome, London and New York. I've met different cultures, different periods of history. Slowly I started creating the person I am today.

Reading is and it'll always be the thing I cannot live without.
