

My Favourite video game

I don't really like playing video games, but one morning my sister showed me a video game called Roblox. I really like it because we could all play it together and there were tons of smaller games in that app. Usually we would cross some obstacles to reach the goal in that game or we would come up with a story and act it out. At first, Roblox was fun and interesting, but as time went by, the game became very boring to me, so I deleted it. I'm not a fan of games, but sometimes they can be really fun.
